Barcelona, 9 October 2012

The Spanish company Rhenus Logistics, which forms part of the international Rhenus group, has unveiled their 2,270 square metre expansion at ZAL Sevilla. This new area is an addition to the 2,300 square metre space opened by the company in 2011 at ZAL Sevilla and means that Rhenus Logistics now covers a total surface area of 4,500 square metres. The extension aims to concentrate all activities carried out in the province of Seville within one space.

The new facility, where operations began on October 1st, has a warehouse covering 2,200 square metres, 11 loading bays and an office area that stretches across 270 square metres. Rhenus Logistics will move its headquarters and transit warehouse to the space, benefitting from the new platform's high performance and the presence of their logistics warehouse there, which was opened in 2011.

The trust that Rhenus Logistics has placed in ZAL Sevilla, the multimodal park belonging to Saba Parques Logísticos, reflects the progressive growth of the firm in Seville during recent years, as well as the company's need to respond to the demands of their customers. Present in Andalusia for decades, Rhenus not only has its platform at ZAL Sevilla, but also has facilities in Jaén and Malaga.
